A GREAT WORK

Is Being Done by the Needle Work Guild—Annual Collection.

The annual collection of garments for the Needle Work Guild will be held Thursday and Friday of this week at the banquet hall, Odd Fellows' block. Members who have not sent their garments to their directors should send them today without fail. Directors should see that their garments are sent to the section presidents by Wednesday night. All garments should be at the hall Thursday morning. The garments will be on exhibition Friday afternoon. Everybody is invited to go and see them. Friday afternoon the annual business meeting will be held and the garments por-tioned off to the several city charities. The Guild is becoming an established annual affair in Akron as it is in 25 other cities and towns in the union. Two hundred and eighty-eight thousand, six hundred and thirty garments in 1908 were distributed by the entire Guild.

The policy of the Guild is to avoid pauperization and is especially planned to help the sick, the aged and the children. Through the organized charities of each city and town there is no reason why the garments should not reach the ones to whom the most good can be done.

Anyone knowing of a worthy family or individual to whom a new cleansing garment should be given can always report the same to one of the city charities and the case will be given immediate attention.

The School-Guild here in Akron, a committee of section-presidents of the needle work guild, has been appointed to distribute to the needy children of the schools. The teachers of each building send in their list to this committee. The committee consult with the organized charities to learn if any of the names handed in are upon any list of any charity.
This is done, as it is done in all the charities, not as a matter of red tape, but as a protection against fraud.
The garments are then distributed to the teachers according to the needs of each child. This work is especially commendable. If a truant officer is employed by the city to see that every child of school age is in school, it is only right that a city charity should see that that child is warmly and comfortably clothed.

If any one wishes to become a member—and that means the annual giving of two new garments or of money—one need not be asked by any other member, but the name and the garments may be handed to any of the ladies in charge of the hall Thursday and Friday.

The Needle-Work Guild is so arranged as to be a burden to no one person. There are no dues, no distribution as to what garments shall be given.

In times of extra stress, as in the hard winter of two years ago, it was a very ready way of accomplishing a great deal with a little effort.

In times of peace there are still always the sick, the helpless and the children. Let them not be forgotten.

Just bear in mind that the shoes sold during the receiver's sale at the Akron Shoe Co. are cheaper than you ever knew them to be before.

MAJ. KASSON

Likely to Be Mr. Little's Successor As Census Supervisor.

THE DEMOCRAT was informed this morning by a local Republican close to Col. Dick that Maj. H. A. Kasson, of Akron, would very likely receive the appointment for census supervisor, which position was made vacant by the death of Mr. J. W. Little.

During Mr. Little's last illness Maj. Kasson attended to the correspondence and other duties pertaining to the office of supervisor, and he is thoroughly in touch with the work.

It is understood that ex-Sheriff H.
G. Griffin is a candidate for the appointment. Messrs. Kasson and Griffin are both old soldiers.
Senator Hanna will make the appointment, but upon the recommendation of Col. Dick.

Body Recovered.

st., drowned in Summit lake Mon-er-in-law, Harry Thatcher.

The funeral will be held at the house Wednesday afternoon.

ment of Frank, Laubach & Clemmer

SELF-MADE MAN

Was Mr. E. W. Wiese, Whose Death Came Yesterday.

In the death of Mr. Edward W.
Wiese of 1075 South Main st., Akron loses one of her best citizens.

Mr. Wiese was a self-made man and commanded the respect of all who knew him. He was always courteous and obliging, which explains the enviable position he held among his army of friends.

He had been suffering from rheumatism for two months and death came suddenly about noon Monday.
Decayed was 35 years, 8 months and 20 days old and had resided in Akron for 32 years. When an orphan only 11 years old he came to the United States from Germany, locating in Pittsburg with his uncle, who raised and educated him. He served in the Civil war with Co. F, O. V. I., and was a member of the Masonic and Grand Army lodges. In 1871 he entered the Rubber works, where he has been shipping clerk ever since, except in 1887 when he traveled. He also served two terms on the Board of Education and has been clerk of the Board of Health ever since that body was organized.

The funeral will be conducted by Rev. E. R. Willard at 2:30 o'clock Thursday at the residence. The pall bearers will be M. W. Hoyer, John W. Hall, Chas. D. Raymond, Simon N. Stone, Chas. S. Eddy.

prison and on Tuesday morning upon his promise to President Walsh of the company, to be good, the case against him was dropped.

RARE TREAT

Provided For Akron People by the Tuesday Musical Club.

Clarence Eddy, for many years acknowledged as chief among American organists, has, through his brilliant and wonderfully successful concert work in Europe in recent years, established himself pre-eminently among the greatest organ virtuosos of the world.

He is one of the few who have been able to withstand severe European criticism, and ever remains a favorite among the people of Europe. Of Mr. Eddy's playing no more need be said than was contained in the testimonial given him by the great master Haupt at the end of his studies with him: "In organ playing the performances of Mr. Eddy are worthy to be designated as eminent, and he is undoubtedly the peer of the greatest living organists."

Mr. Eddy will be assisted in his Akron concert at the First-M. E. church tomorrow night by Mr. William A. Willett, baritone.

FALLS CITIZENS

Proceed Against One of Their Councilmen.

Charge That He Conspired to "Defraud the Village."

A complaint has been filed with Probate Judge Anderson signed by Samuel Higgs, Minor H. Howe, John W. Walsh, W. A. Taylor and George Sackett, electors of Cuyahoga Falls against Dwight Shumway, a member of the village council.

The document charges Shumway with having been unlawfully interested in the profits of certain work for the corporation. It is claimed that at different times Shumway worked William Robinson, civil engineer, and got his pay from the city treasurer upon Robinson's bill duly approved by the street committee, of which Shumway is chairman.

It is also claimed that last July Shumway conspired with Robinson to "unlawfully defraud the village," as above stated.

For such alleged actions the complainants ask Judge Anderson to take such steps as the law directs.

The proceedings against Mr.
Shumway are the result of the findings of a Citizens' Investigating committee, which recently reported to the Council concerning its findings. The report was published in the DEMOCRAT at the time.

This action against Mr. Shumway is brought under sections 1683 and 1676. It provides that any officer of a corporation interested in profits of any contract of corporation shall be fined not more than $1,000, nor less than $500 and imprisoned not more than six months or less than 30 days or both and shall forfeit his office.

AFRICAN CANNIBALS.

MORRIBLE PRACTICES OF THE MAN
EATERS OF THE KONGO.

The Victims Led From Place to Place, So That Prospective Partakers May Mark Portions They Desire When the Killing Occurs.

Of the numerous instances that might be recorded in illustration of the organized traffic in human beings which exists, reference may be made to the conditions which hold in the district through which the Lulungu river passes.
This river, which constitutes a considerable affluent of the Kongo, empities into the latter river, on the south bank, at a point some 80 miles from the Atlantic coast. Within a short distance of the confluence is to be found a series of strongly fortified villages, representing the headquarters of the Kongos, wherein numbers of slaves are imprisoned pending the periodical visits of traders from the Ubangi country, which is situated on the opposite side of the Kongo.

A visit to one of these slave depots at the mouth of the Lulungu river reveals a condition of savagery and suffering beyond all ordinary powers of description. At the period to which these remarks bear reference there are no uncommon experiences to witness at one time upward of a hundred captives, of both sexes and of all ages, including infants in their wretched mothers' arms, lying in groups; masses of utterly forlorn humanity, with eyes downcast in a stony stare, with bodies attenuated by starvation, and with skin of that dull gray hue which among colored races is always indicative of physical distress.

In cases when a suspicion existed of an individual captive's intention or ability to escape, such unfortunate creature was doomed to lie hobbled with one foot forced through a hole cut in the section of a log, while a spearhead was driven into the wood close beside the limb, rendering it impossible for the captive to escape the scene of incarceration. Other means to insure the prisoner's safe custody consisted in binding both hands above the head to the king post of a hut, or in binding the arms and plaiting the hair into a braid, which was made fast to a branch overhead.

At intervals these villages were visited by the Ubangi, who came in large dugout war canoes, and the process of better commerce, elephant tusks being the medium of currency used in the purchase of the slaves. Upon the conclusion of this unnatural transaction, the visitors retired, taking with them as many of the individuals as had been transferred to their possession in the tedious process of bargaining.

Upon reaching their destination the captive were, in most cases, subjected to many further ordeals, being exchanged into other hands, until eventually, after having been deliberately fattened, they met their tragic fate, and their bodies were consumed.
There is a prevalent belief among many of the riverine tribes of the upper Kongo that the favor of human flesh is improved by submerging the prospective victim up to the neck in the water for two or three days previous to the sacrifice. Indeed, upon two separate occasions it was my privilege to release several poor creatures who were bound hand and foot to stakes in the river.

In certain native market places, notably in the vicinity of the Ubangi, it is an ordinary occurrence for captives to be exposed for sale, in most cases with the sinister stare in view of being killed and eaten. Proportionately, a greater number of men than women fall victims to cannibalism, the reason being that women who are still young are esteemed as being of greater value, by reason of their utility in growing and cooking food. This rule does not, however, hold good throughout, for in the vicinity of the Ubangi river our observations revealed a contrary order of custom.

Probably the most infamous practice of all is to be met with among the tribes who deliberately hawk the victimized while still alive. Incredible as it may appear, the fact remains justified by an ample and abundant proof. Captives are let from place to place in order that individuals may have the opportunity of indicating, by external marks upon the body, the portions they desire to acquire. The distinguishing marks are generally made by means of colored clay or strips of grass and in a particular fashion.

The extraordinary indifference thus displayed it can only be assumed that death is looked on as a minor evil, and that the prospect of a life of luxury and ease is a sufficient inducement to accept of such a fate. In explanation of the extraordinary indifference thus
accept of such a fate.

Showing Her Teeth.
One of the last things people like to admit is that their teeth are not
